BIG ELECTRIC CO. FACES U. S. PROBE

UNDERCOVER MEN TAKE FIELD IN SIFT

MONOPOLY OF POWER LAID TO CORPORATION

It Is Planned to Make Probe One of the Most Far-Reaching Ever Undertaken by the Federal Government—Investigation Has Already Begun.

Washington.—Investigation of the General Electric company, one of the most powerful corporations in the United States and accused of reaching out like an octopus to gain complete control of power and lighting interests throughout the country, was begun by the federal trade commission.

It is planned to make this probe one of the most far-reaching ever undertaken by the federal government into an alleged financial autocracy.

Action followed an opinion by Attorney General Sargent that the commission is clothed with complete authority.

Already a large force of investigators is at work. Testimony will be taken in every section of the United States.

Charges that the General Electric company and its interlocking financial interests now dominate the power as well as the electrical manufacturing facilities of two continents have been made frequently in congress.

J. P. Morgan company are accepted as the dominating group in the General Electric company. One member of the house of Morgan—Dwight W. Morrow, now chairman of the aircraft investigating board—appears on the board of directors. Other directors are such men as G. F. Baker of New York, Seward Prosser, Owen D. Young and Gerard Swope. As a holding corporation the General Electric controls the Electric Bond and Share company. In the hands of this company, it is charged, rests the greatest aggregation of power corporations ever amalgamated in the history of the world.

Approximately 125 power corporations are alleged to be included in the immediate grip of the Electric Bond and Share company Nearly twenty-five others, it is asserted, are manipulated through interlocking directorates.

At least 145 power companies are alleged to be under the General Electric's immediate control in the United States, Canada and Latin-American countries.

UNITED STATES TO APPEAL DECISION ON ALIEN LAW

Washington.—The government will appeal from a decision rendered by the circuit court of appeals in St. Louis, holding the alien deportation law inoperative, it was announced by Attorney-General Sargent.

The decision interferes with the government's plans to deport a large number of aliens now serving sentences for crimes, at the expiration of their imprisonment.

An appeal also will be taken from that part of the decision which held the penalty clause in the present immigration act to be unconstitutional.

The court of appeals ruled that the present law permitting deportation of aliens who have been convicted of certain classes of crimes ceased to be operative after March 24, 1921.

The effect of this decision has been to cloud the government's policy with respect to all deportations, and Attorney-General Sargent wants the supreme court to review.

Ex-Kaiser's Claims Attacked

Berlin.—An attack on the proposed 600,000,000-mark settlement of the Hohenzollern property claims against Prussia was launched in the Prussian diet by the Democratic deputy, Barteld. Barteld insisted that "the Hohenzollerns should take part in the improvement of the nation instead of trying to become the reachest people in Germany."

Ask Separate Pension Bill

Springfield, Ill.—John B. Inman, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, has prepared a circular letter to all posts in the country asking united support of a program for a separate Civil war veterans' pension bill.

Socialists' Ears Cut Off

Vienna.—The ears of fifteen Socialist agitators have been cut off by peasants in a Carpatho-Russian village under the bitter election campaign which is in progress in Czecho-Slovakia.

School Gets $600,000 Gift

Chicago.—A bequest of $600,000 was given the University of Chicago under the terms of the will of the late Miss Helen Culver, philanthropist.

CONGRESS TO ACT ON TAX CUT, COAL

WILL GET FAST AND DECISIVE ACTION

THROW FULL STRENGTH BEHIND THESE MEASURES

President Coolidge Regards Legislation to Meet the Coal Emergency as No Less Vital Than Tax Revision to the Nation.

Washington.—Congress is expected to take swift action on two major problems—tax reduction and legislation to meet the coal emergency—which will confront it when it assembles on December 7.

The Coolidge administration will throw its full strength behind these measures to insure their early enactment, for the president is said to feel that both are of paramount importance.

The revenue legislation now embodied in a non-partisan measure drafted by the ways and means committee will be rushed through the house before Christmas, according to leaders of both parties

The president regards legislation to meet the coal emergency as no less vital than tax revision to the nation. With coal stocks dwindling and prices soaring, the president wishes to have full authority to act if a crisis comes.

Recommendations of the coal commission to meet such emergencies were sent to the last congress by the president, but no action was taken. The administration measure undoubtedly will be based on the suggestion outlined in that report.

While a vigorous fight will be made in the senate to rewrite the house tax bill, federal taxpayers are fully assured of a cut all along the line, all party leaders agree.

Secretary Mellon's demand for a cut from 40 to 20 per cent as the maximum surtaxes paid on large incomes is certain of enactment.

There is every reason to believe that the committee's program for reducing the rates on moderate incomes will eventually become law. The plan will relieve 1,000,000 taxpayers of a federal levy.

For the first time in a century the Republicans and Democrats in the house are a unit on a revenue measure and by presenting a solid front the leaders of both parties expect to restore the prestige of the lower body as the revenue raising branch of congress and force the senate to accept their bill or take the responsibility for defeating tax reduction.

While these two measures are being disposed of on the floors of congress, a host of other important problems will be crowding for attention.

The deplorable condition of America's air defense, which has stirred the nation since the revelations made by Col. William Mitchell, will be given a thorough airing when the army and navy appropriation bills are considered in both houses.

The shipping board, a thorn in the side of the administration for the last year, is due for a raking fore and aft. The president is expected to recommend the abolition of the present board and the establishment of an agency that is directly responsible to the executive.

Railroad consolidation will be pressed. Farm relief legislation will again come to the fore. The form both these measures will take is still to be determined.

RESISTS ATTORNEYS' EFFORTS FOR SECOND BLAZER TRIAL

Denver, Colo.—The state will resist efforts of attorneys for Dr. Harold E. Blazer to bring about a retrial of the aged country physician on a charge of murdering his 34-year-old "child-woman" daughter, Hazel.

Joel Stone, prosecutor of the trial which ended with a deadlocked jury and subsequent dismissal of the murder charge against Dr. Blazer, announced he would fight all attempts to retry the case and "place Colorado in the position of legalizing this character of crime."

Stone's announcement came after Lewis D. Mowry, chief of defense counsel in Dr. Blazer's trial, made known that he would seek a new trial in order that the physician may have security under the law, which provides he cannot be brought to trial after he has been acquitted of a crime.

Mowry said the fact that the jury in the case stood eleven to one for acquittal when it was discharged was a complete vindication for Dr. Blazer, but that he desired safety for him as well.

Judge Samuel Johnson, who presided in the Blazer trial, dismissed the murder charge upon motion of Prosecutor Stone after the jury failed to agree.

MUSIC WEEK FITTINGLY OBSERVED IN STRENUOUS WORK BY LOCAL CHOIR

"Music Week" as conducted by Mrs. F. W. Hodgdon at the Congregational church last week was an inspiration and uplift never before experienced in our town. She has an unusual voice which in itself arouses enthusiasm, but her gift of getting all the music there is in them out of people and creating a musical spirit, accounts for the wonderful accomplishments of one short week.

She trained a Junior group and the Camp Fire Girls, helped at the High School, gave some private aid and instruction and conducted evening rehearsals of the adults of the church.

Sunday evening a very excellent Sacred Concert was given at the church in which all of these groups participated, in addition to solo and duet numbers.

As a community, Campbell has not maintained its musical status of several years ago. While soloists and a small part of the high school students have continued to do good work we have not had any choral or community singing, and the congregational singing in all of our churches has deteriorated. The work which Mrs. Hodgdon has done is greatly needed and it would be a fine thing for our town if she could be brought here again to conduct some general community singing.

The singing of the Camp Fire Girls and the Junior choir was remarkable for the time in which they had been drilled. The numbers in which Mrs. Hodgdon participated were all greatly appreciated and the cornet playing f Donald and Roy Page was a rare treat. It was a great pleasure to hear such exquisite productions.

Following is the program as rendered Sunday evening.

STANFORD-CALIFORNIA BIG GAME

On Saturday November 21st at the Stanford Stadium the Bears and Reds will meet in their annual struggle for football honors. Altho both teams have suffered defeat at the hands and feet of the Huskies of Washington that fact does not detract from the intense interest of the sport loving public. No more colorful contest has ever been held and as a world famous attraction it has no equal. Thousands of fans will watch these modern gladiators of the arena while many thousands more will have to content themselves with a purely audible view of the game. K P O have secured the exclusive right to broadcast the details of the game, play by paly. Six "Mikes" have been placed at certain spots where they will catch the music of the bands, the famous college yells of each school, an dthe cheers and applause of the thousands of fans. In the special glass cage K P O's announcers will receive by special wires from the sidelines each detail of the plays the minute they are made. Never before in the history of radio have such thorough and complete arrangements been made to provide the vast air audience with such satisfying information. The Orchard City Theatre will open its doors at 2 P. M. to accommodate the local fans who wish to follow the game. Charlie Shumway has installed a radio receiver and will personally operate same during the entire game. There will be no charge for admission.

BUYS MARKET BUSINESS

J. Bonaccorso has purchased the California Fruit Market of G. B. Sunseri. Mr. Sunseri who has built up a very good business here has decided to go to a larger field and will probably go to Oakland or San Francisco.

Joe Bonaccorso is a Campbell boy and has been helping in the market for some time getting a line on the management and salesmanship of the goods. The very good location has helped much to make a good business. The market makes a specialty of choice fresh fruits and vegetables. "Courtesy and Prompt Service" is the motto of the management and we bespeak for the concern a liberal patronage. They are making a special sale on bananas this Saturday.

Aunty Parker is celebrating her eighty-second anniversary today. and the community extends most hearty best wishes. She is very cheery and active for one of her advanced years.

Asks for Eight Officers in Arica

Washington.—General Pershing has asked for the presence in Arica of eight additional American army officers, to be attached to the staff of the Tacna-Arica plebiscitary commission, of which he is president.

"Ma" Plans Holiday Pardons

Austin, Tex.—A list of about one hundred pardons is expected to be granted Thanksgiving by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson. The governor's desire was to say nothing about the plans until November 26.

HANDICRAFT ARTISTS DISPLAY PRODUCTS

When the members of the Country Woman's Club entered the Community hall from an adjourned business meeting in the Library the picture that greeted their eyes was almost that of an oriental bazaar.

Exquisite rugs, the product of the looms of Persia, China and Asia Minor; basketry from all parts of the world and some charming examples of the work of local artisans made a fascinating array.

Mrs. E. I. Price opened the topic of the afternoon, Handicraft by explaining the idea of the program committee that some of the beautiful and aritstic material products of the hands were as equally worth studying as the children of the mind.

She mentioned the several groups of exhibits and then introduced Mrs. Violet Saunders Pomeroy, who read a most interesting paper on handwork, dwelling chiefly on the history of rug weaving.

The earliest artistry was that of the cave man chippin stones into heads for implements and the ornamental art of scratching upon the bone handles the outline of animals.

The early Hebrews acknowledged the Divine Spirit in the gifts of handicraft—Exodus 35-35. She quoted briefly from an article on Kashmir and Kashmir shawls. "Weaving is one of the oldest and most practical of handicrafts. This includes dress as done on the old hand looms, basket weaving of the Indians and the ancient art of rug weaving which is believed to have originated in Egypt 2600 years be[illegible]re Christ."

[illegible]ile the western world uses [illegible] chiefly as floor coverings, to the Oriental they were the only furniture of his home, covering the raised part of the floor where the divans were, and covering those couches and serving as wall hangings.

A very interesting description of the life and habits of the rug weavers was given and the sales system thru fairs. The use of vegetable dyes and their sources was explained. The introduction of analine dyes is ruining the work.

If space permitted the entire paper would prove most interesting reading.

Mr. H. Boghosian, of San Jose, an Armenian who has an Oriental Rug storeat 169 South 12th street, where he also cleans and repairs rugs, described the processes by which the rugs are made, a ndexplained some of the many kinds, as to materials, kinds of knots, patterns, etc., and also methods of cleaning.

The remainder of the time was spent in examining the exhibits. Mrs. Jas. Turner, who was unable to be present had several styles of her candles, which have been patented, on display. The products of "The Polly Turner Studio" are sold in gift shops all over the United States.

Mrs. H. W. Higbie, who has an unusual Gift Shop in San Jose, had- a great variety of handi wrought baskets, whose origin and uses she kindly explained.

Beautiful examples of hooked rugs, an art our New England forbears, and in her case, Nova Scotian, were made by Mrs. H. S. Young and her pupils were there, woven spreads, dresses, scarfs and bags, were displayed by Mrs. I. P. Beal and her classes, by Mrs. W. H. Woodbury and Mrs. Aitkin of San Leandro, a former member of the Club, beautiful Batik work was shown by Mrs. Pomeroy, and exquisitely dainty enamelled ware from the studio of Miss Esther West who lives off Walker Road, near Los Gatos. All of which showed this community is not at all lacking in real handicraft artists.

Miss Denton announced that Dr. Kuntz of State Teachers College would speak at the Dec. 7 meeting on Roumania and the Balkan countries, her exact topic not having been stated. Dr. Kuntz teaches European History and is especially interested in that section of Europe which the club is considering this year.

Mrs. Kinned said that the Dec. 21st meeting will include a Christmas party, and any little gifts for the community room or kitchen would be greatly appreciated.

SILVER ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED

The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ralston Alison was made the occasion of a surprise party for them, which was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Cramer, Friday evening. The actual date was the 14th but owing to the fact that they with many others were going to the California-Washington game, the celebration was planned for the preceding day.

The honored gests were invited to spend the evening and when pleasantly established before the fireplace the company walked in.

Bridge was played for part of the time, and Mrs. B. G. Rodeck and G. E. Farley carried off the honors.

Before refreshments were served Mr. and Mrs. Alison were presented with a pair of handsome silver candlesticks and decorated candles, which were then placed beside the lovely birthday cake, the handiwork of two of the guests.

Songs appropriate to weddings and anniversaries were sung by Mrs. R. H. Hyde, Dr. W. I. Merrill and H. C. Smith.

With many expressions of good will and hope to be present at the golden wedding, the party disbanded soon after the 14th was ushered in.

BIG GAME TONIGHT AT CAMPBELL GYM

Tonight the high A (unlimited) Class will meet the San Jose Alumni at the local gym in its first game of the season. The line-up follows:

Forwards: Reed, Clark, Fricano, Sundquist; Center, Nelson; Guards, Kalas, Shelley, Cramer, Hedegard.

The B Class will meet the Fox Firebrands of San Jose, using the following line-up: Forwards, Shadle, Gardner, Furtado, Monte, Fria, C. Nelson, Pisano, Seyama, Burns, Kosich; centers, Robson, Monte, Newton; guards, Merrill, C. Nelson, Lynden, Angelo. Both games promise to show some fast work outs.

The first P. A. League game will be two weeks from tonight, December 4 at Campbell with San Jose. Both A and B class teams will play.

Classes C and D lost both games at Palo Alto the C's 29 to9, and the D's 20-6.

The Campbell's Humps, our new town basket ball aggregation, is making history for itself and community by putting up some high class ball. This past week they took into camp their strongest opponents the Saints by aclose score 19 to 18. They have but one more hard game between them and the league championship. This will be played several weeks hence. Go Get 'em.

TO FEED 'EM PRUNES

This noon the visiting delegates of the National Grange will visit Campbell in its swing around the county. The local grange has planned to give each visitor a small package of choice prunes. This will be done at the Roosevelt Redwood tree on the school campus. The delegates will breakfast at Mountain View and go to Stanford for an organ recital. They will then be taken by auto to Saratoga and Los Gatos. From Campbell they will go to Gilroy for luncheon and back to San Jose to visit a packing plant. At the National session 873 candidates took the seventh degree, Campbell furnishing over 30.

ANOTHER "COXEY'S ARMY?"

Is another "Coxey's Army" marching toward Washington? Not on foot, but in thought. It is the army of income tax payers and potential tax payers of the nation. The U. S. Government started something when it established the income tax. It got everybody "interested" in the federal government—interested in seeing to it that they get their taxes reduced to any sum from a million dollars to nothing.

The big fellow and the little fellow have joined the "army", and both have a proportionately equal interest. There is uniformity of rank and significant singleness of purpose which is to make the country safe from an exhorbitant income tax. Congressmen representing all parties had better tune their receiving sets for the correct political wave, and each of them would do well to tune in on his own constituency.

Invention Keeps Oil Burning Under Water

Burning an oil flame under water for weeks at a time and avoiding most of the heat loss of an ordinary boiler, is the feat of Oscar Brunler, a Belgian scientist, says a Science Service letter from Brussels. By means of a device similar to a carburetor, a spray of crude oil mixed with air is blown into the burner under pressure. Water is kept out of the burner until it is hot and the fire is burning well. Then the water is allowed to rise around the flame until it is submerged. Once started it can be kept burning for months. All designs of boilers are based on the principle of bringing the flame of the fuel into the closest possible contact with the water in order to avoid loss of heat. The most efficient method is to have the flame directly in the water, and this is what Brunler has succeeded in doing. His success is shown by his report to the Society of Chemical Industry. More than sixty different kinds of oil have been burned, and boilers have worked continuously for months. The flame can be regulated completely by turning one wheel. While an ordinary burner seldom gives as much as 75 per cent of the heat, as determined by common methods of analysis, this submerged flame has given a heat efficiency of practically 100 per cent for weeks at a time.

Telescopes Fail to Pick Up Brooks' Comet

Brooks' comet, one of the seven periodic visitors to the earth that have been expected this year, the discovery of which was reported by an astronomer at Kiev, Russia, has not been located in the sky by astronomers at the United States naval observatory, even though on several clear nights the big 26-inch telescope has been used to search for it.

According to Prof. Asaph Hall, astronomer in charge of this instrument, the position among the stars given for the Kiev observation was evidently in error. Report of a second observation at the Simeis observatory, in Crimea, Russia, has just been received through Dr. Harlow Shapley, director of the Harvard College observatory, and on the first night that weather conditions are sufficiently good Professor Hall will hunt for it again. According to the new report the comet is in the constellation Virginis and is [illegible]

Holland Princess to Take Up Study of Law

Queen Wilhelmina, in giving her only daughter, Princess Juliana, a simple and austere education in preparation for difficulties which some day she may be called upon to face, has decided to have the young lady matriculate at the University of Leyden. It is said that once in the course of a conversation Wilhelmina asserted that she feared her daughter never would become queen of Holland, because nearly all the thrones in Europe were shaky. She is reported to have said that the princess should be able to take care of herself in some other occupation than that of queen. The anxiety of the queen in this regard has not been justified. The monarchy in Holland is more solid than ever and Wilhelmina is one of the best-loved sovereigns in Europe. Nevertheless, in September, the sixteen-year-old heiress to the Dutch throne will go to Leyden and begin the study of law. The queen has purchased a villa where Juliana will reside with a lady of the court, a woman teacher and a small staff of servants.

Gulls of Great Lakes

That gulls and terns inhabiting the Great Lakes region scatter over a wide range during their migratory flights has been indicated by a checkup kept on branded birds, according to William I. Lyon of the Inland Bird association, who marks more than 3,500 of the fowl yearly in an effort to learn their length of life, mating habits and traveling ability.

Even those reared in the same neighborhoods of the northern climes have been found to follow different routes on their winter flights.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Mean Scheme Played on Vegetarian Hubby

An amusing story at the expense of a food faddist is related by Ralph Neville, an English writer:

When at luncheon with a friend he observed "that he touched no meat, but ate only certain strange vegetarian dishes, which had evidently been prepared for his special consumption. Later on," says Mr. Neville, "I inquired of his wife if this new diet agreed with her husband.

"'It didn't at first,' she replied, 'but it does now.'

"'From his looks he certainly seems to thrive on it. He never looked more robust in his life.'

"'I take care of that,' she went on, 'though I hope he won't find it out. No man partakes of a more carnivorous diet than he. Every one of those vegetable courses you saw today was full of the strongest meat juice, which, by my orders, is put into everything served to him before it appears on the table.'"—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

Odd Charge Against Radio

A man charged in Christchurch, New Zealand, with burglary attributed the crime to his craze for wireless, and he was discharged on probation on condition that he dismantle his wireless set and use nobody else's, says the London Mail.

The evidence showed that he had become mentally deranged, owing to a close application to wireless apparatus. A similar fate has befallen other New Zealand wireless enthusiasts.

The judge said it was most extraordinary that respectable citizens should become criminals through wireless.

Devotees of Archery

Archery is not a forgotten sport by any means. This ancient art is indulged in at some of the leading colleges for women in the United States and in many colleges for men abroad. The girls' schools in this country which have archery training are: Wellesley, Radcliffe, Smith, Mount Holyoke and Bryn Mawr and at the following co-educational institutions: Cornell, Chicago, Northwestern, Wisconsin, Minnesota and California, girls take part in the sport.

Making the first definite statement in detail of plans on which the state engineering department is at work for the exportation of flood waters of the Sacramento valley into the San Joaquin valley for the irrigation of lands now arid, Paul Bailey, deputy engineer of the state department, told about seventy-five agriculturists of the valley at Fresno recently that such plans are not only feasible but practical. He addressed an open meeting of the San Joaquin Valley Advisory council of the California Development association.

A. Perelli Minetti of Ukiah, Mendocino county, has purchased a tract of land near DeLano for which he and associates have paid $175,000. Last year Minetti and his associates bought $200,000 worth of property in the vicinity of DeLano. The land will be cultivated.

The 2-story dwelling on the Lowden ranch, Lewiston, Trinity county, and once a famous hotel and stage stopping point in the early days of the state's history, was destroyed by fire. Nothing was saved. The loss is placed at $10,000. The fire is believed to have originated in a defective flue.

MAKE CHRISTMAS A JOY DAY TO ALL

Again the Christmas season is drawing near and the Postal Department has begun its preparations to successfully handle the holiday mail. A general survey of business conditions and the financial status of the people convinces those in command that this will be the heaviest mailing year yet experienced. It can only be satisfactorily handled by the heartiest cooperation on the part of those really interested—the mailers.

Packages destined for foreign countries should be on their way within a week or ten days to insure their getting thru the custom houses and delivered to destinations in season.

Parcels mailed to larger cities in the United States should arrive at least four days before the 25th to make certain that they are delivered before Christmas and do not wait over in a ware house while those that did arrive on time are being handled.

For the first time in our history, there will be no mail sorted on Christmas Day. Uncle Sam wants all of his postal employes so far as possible to have the day at home. Every possible effort will be put forth to clear the boards up to Christmas Eve, but at midnight work will cease except to keep mails moving that are on the way and to send out. If the public will only help the plan will work successfully and the thousands and thousands of tired postal employees who have worked at the highest tension for days, can have the day at home.

The local postmaster has a suggestion to offer that will save the patrons of the office much valuable time and be of great advantage to both themselves and the office in the rush days later.

Get your Christmas parcels ready now or in the near future, do them up and bring to the office. Have them weihed and properly stamped and O. K'd and then when you wish to mail them you will not have to wait and keep others waiting, except to fill out the insurance slip if so desired.

Use strong containers, wrap with strong paper outside, tie well, put no writing inside except names and short greetings, as "The Season's Greetings" "Merry Christmas" etc., and no stickers or seals on the face of the parcels or letters.

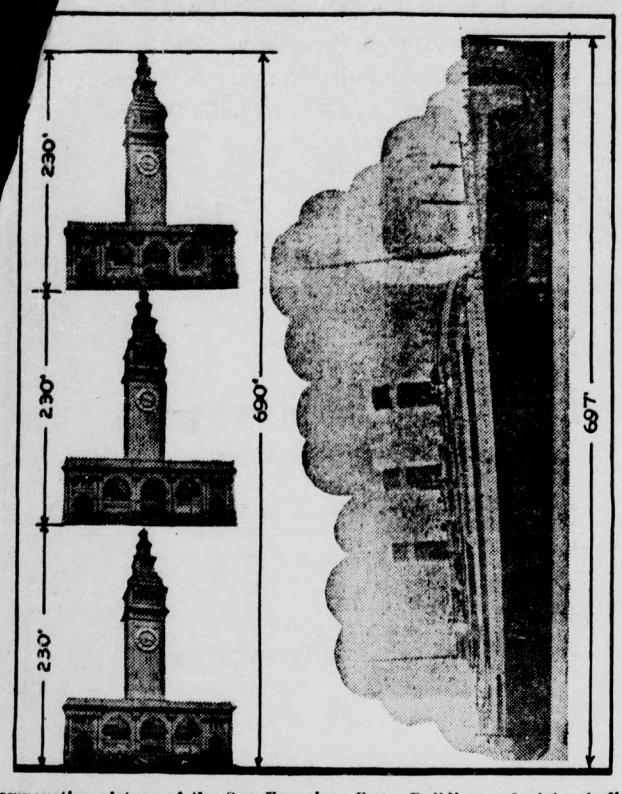
mmoth Size of World Cruise Steamer Illustrated



Comparative picture of the San Francisco Ferry Building and globe-circling liner Belgenland.

The gigantic size of the Red Star liner Belgenland, which will soon start on her second globe circling voyage can be more clearly visualized when compared with the Ferry building at San Francisco. This huge steamer, which is not only the largest to ever put into the harbors of Los Angeles and San Francisco, but the biggest to make a world cruise, is more than three times as long as the Ferry building is high.

Standing the Belgenland on end alongside of three replicas of the Ferry building on top of each other, the bow of the steamer would still tower seven feet above them. The liner is 697 feet long and 78 feet broad. She is 27,300 tons register and is fitted up as luxuriously as the best class hotels. She has two large and well equipped gymnasiums, an indoor swimming pool, with Turkish bath attached, and two outdoor pools, the largest on any ship.

A deck tennis court, golf course, three veranda cafes, a Japanese tea garden, beautifully furnished and decorated public rooms and commodious staterooms make the Belgenland ideally fitted for a world cruise.

On a voyage around the world the matter of providing a varied and palatable menu is one of the most important tasks. When it is considered that more than 400 people make their home aboard the steamer for a period of 132 days, the question of food is a big one. The large refrigerator compartments aboard the vessel provide ample space for the carrying of the necessary foodstuff.

Included in the food carried by the Belgenland are: Sixty tons of meat, 600 barrels of flour, 16,000 pounds of butter, 3 tons of cheese, 9 tons of poultry, 60 tons of potatoes, 3 tons of salt, 4 tons of coffee, 2 tons of tea, 5 tons of sugar and 2 tons of ice cream. Fresh fish is taken on at every port touched. Practically every kind of domestic and foreign delicacy can be found in the storerooms of the liner.

Before the steamer leaves Los Angeles on December 11 she will take on more than 1,000 boxes of citrus fruits and a large supply of other products indigenous to Southern California. At San Francisco she will take aboard more than 70 tons of fresh vegetables and dried fruit.

Leaving San Francisco on December 14, the big steamer will go to the Hawaiian Islands and then proceed westward on her globe circling course, visiting 60 cities and fourteen different countries. The steamer is scheduled to return to New York on April 6.

Benefit Concert At Scottish Rite

"The Cross of Fire" by Max Bruch, a dramatic cantata of the highest degree of beauty will be given at the Scottish Rite Temple on the evening of Monday, November 30th and Tuesday, December 1st, at 8:15 o'clock. The chorus of one hundred and fifty voices and an orchestra of thirty-one pieces will present this great choral work.

"The Cross of Fire" is to be given as a benefit for the Scottish Rite organ fund. Everyone of the one hundred and eighty people participating in the production is donating his or her services. It is felt that the installation of the proposed twenty-five thousand dollar organ in the beautiful Temple will be a material addition to the musical resources of the community and a material assistance of the building up of a greater love of the art of music. For this reason one hundred and eighty persons have joyfully signified their willingness to assist in the realization of this object.

The music for the cantata was written by Max Bruch. Bruch was one of the greatest of the German composers for orchestra and voices. In some respects he is said to have passed Mendelssohn in his musical ideas. Of Max Bruch, Sir George Grove said, "Bruch has real feeling for concert music and orchestra. He is above all foretold, a master of melody and the effective treatment of sound. His work is true, unconstrained, natural, broad, impressive and vocal. His artistic sense of proportion saves him from losing himself in the mere outward show which sometimes find among the modern realistic schools.

"The Cross of Fire" was Opus 52 of Bruch's works composed well along toward the latter part of his life. It is considered one of his most representative compositions and one of the most beautiful.

Tickets for "The Cross of Fire" may be obtained at the door.

In an effort to cope with traffic congestion, as well as to prevent violations of the motor laws, the town council of San Anselmo, Marin county, a short time ago voted to augment the traffic squad with another officer. The action was taken when a score of mothers appeared before the board and demanded protection of their children and themselves.

Lodi was hostess to the clubwomen of San Joaquin county when the flying squadron of the state federation gave its initial program in the year's work of federation extension. Miss Ralphone Mills of Lodi is chairman of the squadron. She made an appeal to all unfederated women's clubs in the county to join with the county, district and state federations.

Working drawings are being prepared for four reinforced concrete and steel theater buildings for the Paramount Theater corporation. These moving picture theaters will be erected at Chico, Marysville, Placerville and Oroville. Each building will cost about $250,000. Each will have a seating capacity of about 1,500. Construction will start about the first of the year.

The first cargo of California cotton to be shipped from Oakland harbor was loaded on the freighter Pacific Trader recently bound for Liverpool, England. The cotton, more than six hundred bales in all, was loaded with ceremonies, participated in by city officials, chamber of commerce leaders and prominent ranchers of the San Joaquin valley, where the cotton was grown.

A. Millinghausen, Springville, Tulare county, is getting a good crop of corn from a small acreage planted August 1. The corn is of the white field variety, grown so extensively in the central states, the seed having been secured from a friend in Missouri. It was thought that this variety of corn would not have time to mature before the end of the growing season, but the warm weather of October ripened it nicely.

More than 30,000 orchard heaters, furnishing protection for over 600 acres of valencia oranges, will be installed around the Lindsay, Tulare county, district this fall. To furnish fuel for these it will require 600,000 gallons of oil for the initial filling of the pots and the more than sixty storage tanks. Last year there were about 2,000 heaters installed and the orchards that were thus protected came through the winter with practically no loss from freezing. This demonstration of efficiency has convinced many growers that the installation of heaters is the cheapest insurance.

Turks in Hats

Frantic speculation has begun in hats following the call of Mustapha Kemal, the Turkish president, for the adoption of full European dress immediately.

The prefect of Constantinople summoned the hatters and fixed their maximum profit at 30 per cent. He circularized the departments to hasten "to conform to civilization and wear hats."

Soft felt hats principally have been adopted, and Ismed Pasha, the prime minister, wore one when he attended a cabinet meeting a few days ago.

American Engines First

The minister of railways in Czechoslovakia is purchasing American railway engines in order to improve the efficiency of railroads in that country. The engines being ordered will make 35 miles an hour on up-grade pulls and this speed will be increased to 65 miles an hour on level stretches. They are wanted for express trains.

Naval Homing Pigeons "Tear Off" Distances

Speaking of speed, the homing pigeon has most of the other creatures of the earth left behind at the post; and of all homing pigeons those of the United States navy are well up in the front ranks of the speediest. Unlike "speedy" mortals, however, theirs is a one-way speed—toward home—says U. V. Wilcox.

At the National Capital Concourse race a naval pigeon winged the entire distance of 110 miles at an average speed of more than a mile and a quarter a minute. It doesn't take a pigeon long to demonstrate his belief that home is sweet.

In the navy air station at Anacosta Chief Quartermaster Henry Bubec conducts a homing pigeon school for the training both of men and birds. The course of instruction is divided between practical work and lectures. The men learn how to feed the birds, how to care for the injured and how to train them for long-distance flying and racing.

The various breeds and strains are studied as well as the process of mating the birds to bring out certain colors. The shades best liked are blue, blue check, red and red check.

The allied armies employed 200,000 homing pigeons during the World war. Those who served overseas can recount many a tale of how the downy-coated birds flew through showers of shrapnel. With torn and blood-spattered wings they flew home to their lofts, their messages sometimes hanging by only a ligament.—The Open Road.
